Our Distinctiveness:

Adivasi Seva Samiti's Arts, Commerce and Science College, Manur, which is located in Kalwan Taluka i.e., the northern area of Nashik District is geographically located between Latitude 20° 29' 32.2116" N and Longitude 74° 1' 33.6324" E. As this taluka is a hilly and remote area, it has been declared a tribal taluka by the Maharashtra government. The western part of Kalwan tahsil has the highest number of forests and the population of tribal communities is high in this area. The tribal community is largely illiterate and is dependent on traditional agricultural occupations. Health problems are very common in this society due to being illiterate and ignorant about scientific facts. The majority of the population is illiterate. Due to this reason, maximum Women's from this region are facing health and other problems. the rate of malnutrition, child marriage, child labor, migrant agriculture, and youth unemployment is the highest. the government schemes and medical facilities of the government for various tribals have not reached these people. Due to ignorance and illiterateness, superstition is very high in this area.

After seeing this situation our college tries to know the problems and issues of this area, work on this through IQAC, and NSS Department, and try to solve this problem by implementing various activities.

- ❖ This is the first generation from this region (Tribal Area) that came under the flow of higher education.
- ❖ Our college is run in a distant tribal region. More than 95 Percent of students admitted to this college are belonging to the tribal area. The availability of herbs, Medicinal Plants is abundant in this area. The college organizes the Vegetables Festival (Ranbhajya Mahotsav) the festival for the exhibition of Organic Vegetables available in this Tribal Area, our try is to introduce the students to many kinds of herbal remedies. The purpose of this celebration was to encourage and to the growing awareness of herbs/ Medicinal Plants and Forest vegetables.
- ❖ College Aware to people belonging to this tribal section through the Superstition Awareness Program for extirpating superstition.
- ❖ Shivar Pheri (Visit Nearby Pada's and Villages) to be aware farmers of various Agri-related schemes like Crop Insurance, Goat farm Subsidy, solar panel Subsidy, farming equipment, etc.
- ❖ Our college published an E-Magazine "Adim Jan" which focused on one Tribal culture of Kalwan Tehsil.
- ❖ The college students collect local songs from tribal regions, songs are mostly sung at the time of work on the farm by the farm labor, and those songs are shown the tribal culture in various ways.
- ❖ Rallies for road safety are held to raise awareness of the laws and regulations governing traffic and to prevent accidents.
- ❖ In order to raise social consciousness among the residents of the Public Health Centre, Manur, our college conducted a clean-up campaign. Through this campaign college students clean public rivers so that the community's residents can get safe drinking water.
- ❖ The college has provided a specialization in leading subjects like Hindi, Mathematics, Political Science, History, Marketing Management, Cost & Work Accounting, Business Entrepreneurship Etc.
- ❖ The college empowers physically and psychologically to female students by organizing Nirbhaya Kanya Abhiyaan. Physically by training in karate.

- ❖ The faculty staff of the college is very energetic and young, they take an effort for helping students with different issues like filling out scholarship forms, and examination forms, and motivating students in various ways.
- ❖ students and non-teaching staff (Peon) of the college make a handmade bouquet using material from the college garden to facilitate our guests coming for different programs/activities.
- ❖ The garden and campus plant waste/garbage are collected by NSS Volunteers and college students that utilize for vermicomposting by our sister institute KBH agriculture College.
- ❖ The college has pro-active NSS and Student development committees which also implement strong social values, personal development and environmental awareness in the students.
